

Belgravia

JUNE 2019 #155

FRESH FASHION

Pop-up shops NRBY
and Duke & Dexter
on why they've made
Belgravia their base

ALSO INSIDE: Nigel Slater on his extraordinary culinary career
A new private members' club for Belgravia?
Philip Treacy's local life

What's on

May, June & July

Until May 30
Lincoln Seligman

A last chance to transport yourself to more exotic climes through Lincoln's solo exhibition, A Different Perspective, at the Osborne Studio Gallery. India, one of his biggest influences, is as vivid as ever with further paintings exploring his love of the English countryside.

Free, osg.uk.com

Until May 31
Jacqueline Rufus Isaacs

Colourful canvases dominate the landscape at the Sibyl Colefax & John Fowler showroom on Pimlico Road, with Jacqueline's work taking centre stage in an exhibition to coincide with the Chelsea Flower Show.

Artwork prices range from £450 to £900

June 8-9
Open Garden Squares Weekend

More than 130 London gardens will throw open their gates in June for the viewing public. Gardens taking part include Belgrave Square, Chester Square, Eaton Square, Eccleston Square and Wilton Crescent Garden.

Free, opensquares.org

June 12
Motcomb Street Party

The popular event returns with the promise of another fantastic local showcase of live music and food and drink stalls.

motcombstreetparty.co.uk

June 17-July 4
David Noalia

The Andalusian horse – known as the “pure Spanish horse” – is the subject of the Seville-based artist's latest exhibition at the Osborne Studio Gallery.

Free, osg.uk.com

June 20
Belgrave Square Barbecue

A highlight of the summer calendar with a chance for residents to enjoy the summer sun in Belgrave Square Garden.

mayfairandbelgravia.com

June 14-July 4
Frippy Jameson

Inspired by horses at rest, the sculptor works from her studio in the Scottish borders from sketches, videos and images. Invited to be artist-in-residence for the Household Cavalry, her exhibition showcases five horses with sculptures set in bronze.

Free, osg.uk.com